Judgment

Petitioner is a company engaged in the construction of an apartment complex. They purchased the property recently. It is stated that respondents 3 and 4 have filed a suit against the previous owner. That was dismissed for non-prosecution and restoration application is pending. In a petition under article 226 of the Constitution of India, we are not going into the question of title, possession etc. If any of the civil rights of the petitioner is infringed, it is for the petitioner to approach the civil court and get an order of injunction. However, police should see that law and order is maintained and lives of all the parties are not endangered.
